

Dasht-e Kevir

The Dasht-e Kevir, or Great Salt Desert, is the largest desert in Iran. It is a primarily uninhabited wasteland and composed of mud and salt marshes covered with crusts of salt that protect the meager moisture from completely evaporating.

Landsat 7 data acquired 10/24/2000

1" = 2.3 miles (3.6 km)

